This will bring you to the area where you can enter your Experience Points (XP). You will be responsible for entering your Attendance XP and I would appreciate if everyone used the same format, which will be explained below.

Once in the XP area, click on the Pencil icon next to the XP amount for Character Creation XP and change this from 30 to 50. Then Click “Update Alteration Value”.

To add your Game XP, click “Add New Experience Notation”. Then you will want to click the pencil icon next to “Unspecified Reason” and change that to “Attendance - (Month & Year)”. Click “Update Reason”. Next click the pencil icon next to the XP amount and enter the Attendance XP amount and click “Update Alteration Value”

The screenshot shows the 'Experience Notations' interface. At the top, there are buttons for 'Back' and 'Log Out jgivens'. Below this, there are summary statistics: 'Earned: 50', 'Spent: 0', and 'Available: 50'. A form area contains a text input field with 'Attendance - June 2021' and a 'Update Reason' button. To the right, there is a numeric input field with '5' and a 'Update Alteration Value' button. Below the form is a table with the following data:

Date	Reason	Earned?	Spent?	Available
05/03/2021 1:01:35 PM	Unspecified reason	0	0	50
05/03/2021 12:59:36 PM	Character Creation XP	50	0	50

If you enter a notion by mistake or somehow double enter something, you can delete each line by clicking the X icon at the end of the row.

The top row will show your running totals.

The screenshot shows the top row of the table with the following data:

Date	Reason	Earned?	Spent?	Available
05/03/2021 12:59:36 PM	Character Creation XP	50	0	50

Your initial XP entry just after character creation should look similar to this.

The screenshot shows the 'Experience Notations' interface with a list of entries. The table has the following data:
